WiBF National Industry Awards TIPS

How do I stand out and craft an Award-Winning entry?

Crafting a winning entry for the WiBF National Industry awards, requires careful planning, showcasing tangible achievements, and effectively communicating your impact. Always provide as much details as possible - data is key. Keep in mind, what you submit is the only material the judges will review and judge you on. Judges are looking for individuals and initiatives that are making a tangible impact primarily in Australia. Here are some steps to make your entry stand out:

Understand the Criteria: Thoroughly review the award criteria to ensure your entry aligns with the expectations and focus areas of the award. Tailor your submission to highlight how your work directly impacts the Australian banking and finance industry. Provide strong and clear examples for the judges.

Highlight Tangible Impact: Clearly articulate the specific outcomes and results of your work. Use quantifiable metrics such as revenue growth, cost savings, market share gains, or measurable improvements in processes or performance.

Demonstrate Innovation: Showcase any innovative approaches, technologies, or strategies you've implemented that have advanced the industry or addressed significant challenges. Highlight how your innovation has positively impacted stakeholders and contributed to industry progress. Even better if you can demonstrate a long-term impact.

Provide Evidence: Support your claims with concrete evidence such as data analytics, case studies, testimonials, or project reports. Provide clear examples of successful initiatives, projects, or collaborations that demonstrate your expertise and influence.

Demonstrate Leadership and Collaboration: Highlight your leadership skills, whether it's leading a team, spearheading initiatives, or driving change within your organisation. Also, demonstrate any collaborative efforts with Australian institutions such as WiBF and industry partners that have led to positive outcomes.

Communicate Clear and Compelling Story: Craft a compelling narrative that effectively communicates your journey, challenges overcome, and the value you bring to the Australian banking and finance sector. Use clear and concise language to convey your message effectively.

Tailor Your Entry: Adapt your entry to resonate with the specific goals and priorities of the award. Address any unique aspects of working in Australia or overseas and how they have enriched your perspective and contributions to the Australian banking and finance industry.

Seek Feedback: Before submitting your entry, seek feedback from colleagues, mentors, or industry experts. They can provide valuable insights and help you refine your submission for maximum impact.

Review and Polish: Thoroughly review your entry for clarity, accuracy, and completeness. Check for any grammatical errors or inconsistencies and ensure your submission presents a polished and professional image. Make sure to detail all relevant factors that the judging panel should take into consideration.

Supporting Material: WiBF allows you to upload supporting materials such as pictures, sample of projects, previous awards, and even short videos. Take advantage of it. Judges will appreciate you went the extra mile.

Submit on Time: Be mindful of the submission deadline and ensure you submit your entry well before the cut off date. Avoid last-minute rushes and give yourself ample time to review and make any necessary revisions.

By following these steps and presenting a compelling case that showcases your achievements, innovation, and impact on the Australian banking and finance industry, you can increase your chances of crafting a winning entry for the WiBF National Industry awards.
